Enhanced connectivity

With Datasharp's hosted VoIP solution, employees can connect to the company voice network with SIP communication devices using a broadband connection.

This means expensive mobile and home phone calls can be substantially reduced as remote workers can make calls as if they were calling from the office.

The communication devices are controlled and managed through an easy to use personal phone manager portal, access to which is provided free of charge to every user.

All business locations and end-points interconnect

DHS offers a complete VoIP business service. It requires little capital investment, no rental or installation charges for ISDN lines and no expensive onsite PBX equipment.

Our service offers free between-branch calls. This includes remote workers and unified dialling plan between remote locations. Realtime scalability allows you to add new members and locations to your network as and when you wish.

100 seat conference bridging service allows you to set up a conference bridge for up to 100 participants, with powerful conference hosting capabilities through the web portal.

Fixed monthly rates and substantial savings on all calls

Free local & national calls*

All your company's 'on net' calls are free of charge – regardless of where the recipient is based (including international).

Furthermore calls 'off net', including mobile and international, are at a substantially reduced rate.

With hosted VoIP from DHS your business will make considerable savings and improve efficiency, regardless of the size of your communications infrastructure. All you pay is a flat monthly fee depending on how many employees (seats) are connected to your network.
